Open top bus pulled after drivers abused

SEATON mayor Councillor Jack Rowland has offered to broker a meeting after a bus company closed down a seasonal service early following claims of hostility towards staff in Seaton and Colyton.

staff in Seaton and Colyton.

Mendip Mule Motorbus co-owner Derek Gawn said last Friday: "The open top bus tour service operating between Beer, Colyton, Seaton, Lyme Regis and Charmouth is to be withdrawn from September 10th due to hostility from a small minority of local residents towards their staff."

The company issued a press release, which was also posted on its website, saying: "The service has carried in excess of 20,000 passengers this year, bringing a much-needed boost to the local economy."

"Owner Derek Gawn has taken the decision after he and his staff have been subject to tirades from a few local residents in the Seaton and Colyton area."

"All of the company's part time workforce of 25 will be laid off."

"Sadly a couple of residents of the flats overlooking The Underfleet bus and coach park in Seaton have taken to shouting at the drivers for parking our buses in the bus park, as they don't want them outside their flat."

"All engines are shut down once parked. The bus park is provided by East Devon District Council for buses and coaches to use on a pay and display based ticketing arrangement."

"It isn't for the bus drivers to be shouted at by residents who don't welcome the facility."

"Not a particularly good welcome for the much-needed tourists bringing their spending to the town."

"We no longer wish to subject our staff to such behavior from a small minority of locals."

Seaton mayor Jack Rowland said last Sunday: "I wasn't personally aware of any hostility shown towards the Mendip Mule staff, but was aware of the concerns expressed regarding the buses stopping at the bus stop in the Underfleet when the driver has to take a mandatory break."

"I know that a solution was being sought concerning this with discussions with East Devon District Council concerning the use of the coach car park."

"The siting of the bus stops in the Underfleet is causing problems whenever any bus stops due to traffic attempting to overtake a parked bus close to roundabouts in both directions, and Seaton Town Council has taken this up with Devon County Council."

"I would be happy to arrange a meeting with Derek Gawn and the people who have expressed their views directly to the staff in an effort to find a way forward if it is not too late in the day."

The Mendip Mule statement also said: "We have also experienced people deliberately parking their cars badly on the approach to our depot at Colyton Station in an attempt to make access difficult."

"The poor parking would also obstruct emergency vehicles attempting to access the tramway, nearby houses and the adjacent business units."

"The same resident who is parking badly, has previously told Derek that he doesn't believe there is a place for open top bus tours in this part of the country."

The service started small-scale in 2015 before running a full season last year without any problems, according to Mr Gawn.

The fare for services after 1.50pm last Sunday were set to be removed, with passengers being asked to make a donation of at least £5 to the RNLI instead.

Last chance to save Yarcombe pub

A SMALL stone horse's head, over 1,000 years old, has become the unlikely key figure in a Devon village's fight to save one of the most historic and archaeologically important pubs in the South West.

Nicknamed 'Yarky' by locals, the horse's head is the hitherto hidden archaeological treasure which distinguishes The Yarcombe Inn, on the A30 between Honiton and Chard, as a landmark in medieval construction and a building of national heritage status.

So cherished is the little horse, which was found embedded in ancient stone foundations beneath the pub, that campaigners have vowed to return Yarky to his 'home' should they be successful in winning back the ancient inn.

"He has become the symbol of our campaign, he's such a charismatic and endearing figure.

"None of us will rest until we've returned him in some way to the pub and put him back behind the bar where he belongs," declared Nick Randle, chairman of Yarcombe's parish council and head of the drive to save the ancient hostelry.

Supporting them in this plan is no less an establishment than Exeter's Royal Albert Memorial Museum, where Yarky is on display because of his historical importance and great archaeological significance.

He is not only the first ever recorded use in medieval Devon of Ham stone from Somerset but is also a rare depiction of a Norman horse halter and bridle, providing a whole new perspective on the true heritage and origins of the ancient pub building.

Tom Cadbury, Curator of the Royal Albert Memorial Museum, Exeter, said: "Yarky may be small but we can see how and why he is so important to everyone in Yarcombe. He is a rare survival and a fascinating symbol the village's history.

"We want to do all we can to help the campaigners in their endeavours."

Known officially as The Yarcombe Horse, Yarky was discovered beneath the pub's deep cellar in the 1990s as part of a carved and sculptured decorative corbel stone which would have been part of the interior of a much earlier building.

Because of the corbel's ornamentation and flat surface from which Yarky's head gazed downwards, experts from the Royal Albert Memorial Museum conclusively dated it to the Norman era as the last remaining vestige of an ancient church and religious settlement on the historic pilgrim path from Cornwall to Canterbury.

"Yarky is an absolute treasure as far as Yarcombe is concerned and his importance to us is huge and cannot be overstated. The pub is both his original home and a crucial link to a significant part of the village's heritage. That is why we are striving so hard to save it," points out Nick Randle.

To this end, the village has formed an action group and launched its own dedicated crowd-funding campaign - via www.yarcombe.net - to be able to buy the pub before a November deadline, when it will go on the open market after lying empty and dormant for the past 18 months.

An attempt was made earlier this year to get planning permission for the ancient building to be converted into housing but this move was rejected by East Devon District Council after the village successfully applied for it to be formally nominated as an Asset of Community Value.

Now, estate agents have been engaged and they have put it on the market with a £385,000 price tag.

Under Asset of Community Value rules, the village is allowed a six-month period in which no other bids can be accepted whilst it tries to raise the cash to try and buy the pub.

"We are going all out to galvanise the entire community of Yarcombe, the Blackdown Hills, Devon and South Somerset to get behind us and contribute to our fundraising campaign.

"It doesn't matter if people can manage only £1 or £20, every penny counts," said Mr Randle.

Top marks for Royal D&E stroke care

THE Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital has become the first acute hospital in the South West to achieve a Grade A score for its stroke care since the national stroke audit began in 2013.

The A grade, awarded by the Sentinel Stroke National Audit Programme (SSNAP) for England, Wales and Northern Ireland for the period December 2016 to March 2017, is given only to trusts delivering the very highest standards of care from initial emergency scanning and drug treatment through to therapies and discharge home.

Only 16 per cent of stroke teams nationally achieved the top score and the audit programme refers to those achieving Grade A as 'world class' providers of stroke care. Dr Nicky Mason, Consultant for Stroke Medicine and Healthcare for Older People, said: "This is an extraordinary achievement for the RD&E.

"The stroke team is made up of a dynamic and caring group of individuals who are passionate about their work. "Achieving a Grade A has only been possible through the persistence and determination of staff across many departments to achieve the best for all patients. "A stroke can leave people with life-changing disabilities. "A stroke usually occurs without any warning so comes as a great shock to the affected individual and those close to them. "It causes great distress to those affected. "Patients often need to come to terms with a new perception of vulnerability about themselves. "The goal of our care is to minimise any long-term disabilities. "Whenever possible we support people to regain independence in their own home." Each year the RD&E treats around 700 stroke patients. It provides emergency stroke care on Clyst Ward, with intensive rehabilitation on Clyst and nearby Yealm Ward.

■ ILMINSTER'S Andrew Fox finished top of the table to win this year's Seaton Town Crying Contest. Mr Fox was accompanied by his wife and town crying escort Julie.

The competition was organised by Seaton town crier David Craner, with the help of Seaton Town Council. A total of 16 town criers competed last month, and Mr Craner said: "The competition went very well; the criers liked it. We also had a wonderful audience, which was very appreciative."

"We were lucky with the weather and a good day was had by all.

"I hope to do it again next year, and I can't thank the town council enough for all its hard work to make it all possible."

Apart from the overall title, Mr Fox also triumphed in the best dressed category.

Plans for Devon & Cornwall Police to merge with Dorset constabulary

DORSET and Devon & Cornwall Police have announced that they are considering merging their resources to form one force that would cover most of the South West.

The announcement came after the forces celebrated four years of their strategic alliance programme, which they say has seen significant efficiencies and a better working partnership.

Police and Crime Commissioners from both forces have informed the policing minister of their support for the Chief Constables' intention to actively explore options and will consult with key stakeholders such as MPs and local councils over the next few weeks.

If the conclusion is reached that the forces will join together, it is expected to take place in time for the next PCC elections in 2020, and it is expected that one commissioner would oversee all of Dorset, Devon and Cornwall.

In a joint statement Chief Constables Shaun Sawyer (Devon & Cornwall) and Debbie Simpson (Dorset) said: "The strategic alliance has made significant progress helping us provide a more effective and efficient policing service to the residents of our three counties.

"We now see this as a timely opportunity to progress this alliance further, including a potential aim to merge our resources and create a more resilient police force.

"Policing has faced some significant funding challenges in recent years and we do not see this landscape changing.

"To preserve local, neighbourhood policing and deliver safeguarding within our communities, as well as an ability to respond to emergencies and emerging threats as effectively as possible, we view closer working as the only way forward."

Shared leadership is already in place across both forces with two deputy chief constables that share portfolio areas and directors that lead support functions and business areas across both forces, as well as operational commanders and heads of department in some areas.

Both Chief Constables added: "We have been able to make progress so far because of our staff's hard work and conscious effort to work in collaboration.

"Our officers across Dorset, Devon and Cornwall have similar policing styles, values and priorities with cultures based on delivering resilient and sustainable services to our communities.

"We feel that now is the right time to explore whether a full merger between the two forces is possible.

"We realise there may be statutory obstacles to overcome and there is a lot of work to be done to understand the benefits and challenges ahead.

"We will also ensure that the views and feelings of the public are taken into account.

"As a result, a decision is unlikely to be made quickly but we are absolutely committed to exploring the possibility of a merger in order to continue to provide a sustainable police service for all of our communities in the future."

Martyn Underhill, Police Crime Commissioner for Dorset Police, said: "I, along with Alison Hernandez [PCC for Devon & Cornwall Police], will be working with both Chief Constables over the months to come to understand how such a move could help us to keep our communities safe across the three counties.

"Naturally, I will make sure any decision that is reached is fully informed by the opinion of the public that I serve.

"I have made no secret about my concerns regarding police funding and the difficulties faced by forces during a time of ever-complex and increasing demand.

"However, that does not mean that we should stop working tirelessly to make the best use of taxpayers' money."

Police forces across the South West have seen their budgets cut dramatically and both forces have had to raise their percentage of precept to cover costs.

A Band D property in Devon currently pays £176.28 of their yearly council tax to the police while in Dorset the figure is £194.58.

Dorset Chief Constable Debbie Simpson said it was likely that there would be an 'equalisation' of the rate paid but it was a subject that still needed to be discussed at length.

Tiverton and Honi-

ton MP Neil Parish, has joined with several other MPs across the region in voicing his concern with the proposed move.

Mr Parish said: "I am cautious about the merger of the forces. Although I support measures to cut back-office costs, I am wary about how big an area the new force would have to cover.

"Any merger must ensure we at least maintain our current level of policing and more money is invested in the frontline."

East Devon MP Hugo Swire said he was cautiously supportive over the potential merger: "Having spoken to the Chief Constable of Devon and Cornwall Police and having gained assurances on funding for our local police, I am cautiously supportive of this merger.

"A more joined-up approach to policing in the South West is vital for a number of reasons, including ensuring that we have the correct staffing levels, coverage for both our urban and rural areas and so that we can combat terrorism.

"From the very outset of this process, however, I will push for the combined headquarters to continue to be based at Middlemoor in East Devon.

"I will also be speaking to my other colleagues in Parliament to ensure that Devon speaks with one voice in support of the local communities that we serve."

Police renew appeal

POLICE have renewed an appeal for information about an assault in Chard, which took place last month.

A woman was assaulted near the reservoir off Chaffcombe Road at about 4pm on Friday, August 4th, and police have released a still image of footage featuring two people who may be able to help officers with enquiries.

A police spokesperson said: "There are two people we have so far been unable to eliminate from our enquiries.

"A woman was walking her dog near to a stream and a bridge and at about 4pm other dog walkers in the area heard a scream, before the woman stumbled towards people with serious head injuries.

"We believe the two people pictured here may have information that could help with our investigation.

"We are also keen to talk to an 18-20 year old man with blonde hair, wearing a cream hoodie and carrying a rucksack in the area on the day.

"There was also a white man, in a black hoodie and black trousers, riding a dark-coloured mountain bike in the area at the time.

"We believe he was also seen locally the day before. He had a carrier bag over the handlebars of his bike in his right hand."

DS Lee Jones said: "This was a nasty unprovoked assault for which the motive is still unclear.

"We would like anyone who was in the area at the time to come forward and identify themselves as they may have key information that could help in our investigation.

"Forensic work is ongoing and thanks to help from the public we have over 120 lines of enquiry. But we feel that key piece of information is still out there. We hope identifying some of the people in the area on the day and talking to them will help us."

"We are also re-issuing an e-fit of a man we have been unable to identify, who was seen running away from the area. He is described as a white man, about 20-years-old, 6ft tall, medium build with a protruding stomach.

"His face was round, very red, and he had blonde hair with a side fringe that went partially across his left eye. He was wearing a black hoodie and black trousers."

The woman was being treated for her head injuries but is now in a stable condition.

Anyone with information should call 101 and ask to speak to DS Lee Jones at Yeovil Investigations quoting reference number 5217178432.

Alternatively you can call the independent charity Crime stoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111. They never ask for your details or trace your call.

Axmouth children to perform one-act play

AXMOUTH Children's Theatre will perform Kilmainham Kids, a short one-act play, in the village hall on Friday and Saturday September 15th and 16th, both starting at 7pm.

The shows are to raise money for both ACT and The Friends of Axmouth Church towards the tower repair fund. Tickets are £5 each for adults and £2 each for U14s, but the play is not recommended for young children because of the content.

ACT director Malcolm Henty said: "Please be advised there are gunshots and smoke effects."

The play, written by Paul Sherman and directed by Malcolm Henty, was chosen as the first serious play the cast have attempted and has been rehearsed as a project over the summer holidays.

Mr Henty said: "It tells the story of six children who are imprisoned in Kilmainham Prison (Dublin) in 1849.

"All of the children, apart from one, actually existed and were imprisoned for the crimes mentioned in the play.

"Molly is the antagonist – or 'baddie' – and as such Paul did not want to associate her with anyone real, albeit historical.

"Another prisoner enters later in the play and he, like the children, existed and indeed was executed in the prison in 1916.

"His story is told as part of theirs with a twist at the end which links the two, but it is not a political play and seeks to take no sides just merely to tell a story.

"The crimes and prisoners are well documented in the prisons historical records."

Refreshments of tea and coffee and cakes will be served after each performance.

For tickets, contact Doris on 01297 23847.

Colyton play area re-opens after residents' campaign

Francesca Evans
Reporter | francesca@viewnews.co.uk

A PLAY park in Colyton that was closed almost a year ago has re-opened to the public following a campaign by residents.

The play area at Cuthouse Meadow was "temporarily" closed last October because of health and safety concerns but residents complained that Sovereign Housing Association, which is responsible for the park, "paid no attention" to the site for months.

Katie Gosling was among those to contact the housing association to express her "disappointment, frustration and anger" over the situation.

She said that the park was surrounded by "unsightly fencing" and had become a "complete eyesore" during the closure.

In a letter sent to Sovereign in August, she wrote: "We understand that the present equipment cannot remain as it is but we are very frustrated and angry that our children have been without any play equipment for nine months now especially when we are paying for the maintenance of that facility with our monthly rent.

"Some action needs to be taken and Sovereign Housing needs to take responsibility for that instead of passing the buck and not coming forth with any real answers when contacted by any of the residents."

Miss Gosling, pictured right with her daughter, also expressed concerns about the safety of children, who had been playing on the pavement and road since the park closed.

She eventually raised the matter with East Devon district councillor Helen Parr, and attended the August meeting of Colyton Parish Council to voice her concerns - the day after which the park was re-opened with the same equipment in place.

A spokesperson for East Devon District Council commented: "We understand that Sovereign closed the play area on health and safety grounds and have now addressed the issues concerned. We are delighted that the play area is open again for the local community to enjoy."

Sovereign Housing Association were contacted for a comment but did not give a response before going to print.

Dementia Friends to stage information sessions

A CAMPAIGN to tackle the stigma and lack of understanding around dementia has the support of Karen Curnock, who joins a small team of Dementia Friends volunteers in Seaton.

She will run a series of free Dementia Friends information sessions on Fridays (October 6th, November 3rd and December 1st) and is looking for local business people and members of the general public to come along.

There are currently 850,000 people living with the condition in England. The Alzheimer's Society's Dementia Friends programme is the biggest ever initiative to change people's perceptions of dementia.

It aims to transform the way the nation thinks, talks and acts about the condition.

Dementia Friends is about learning more about dementia and the small ways you can help.

From telling friends about the Dementia

Friends programme to visiting someone you know living with dementia, to supporting customers, every action counts.

The one-hour sessions will take place in the Enterprise Suite at The Gateway, Fore Street, starting at 10am.

Having volunteered to be a Dementia Friends Champion, Karen Curnock is now delivering Dementia Friends Sessions to people across Seaton.

Karen said: "I signed up to be a Dementia Friends Champion because running information sessions is a way in which I can help.

"It's easy to get involved; I attended a training course, receive ongoing support and am now proud to be part of a growing network of people creating dementia friendly communities together."

People can also get involved in Dementia Friends through an online video at www.dementiafriends.org.uk/register-digital-friend

Town square event raises nearly £1,300 for hospital

SEATON and District Hospital League of Friends held a successful summer fair in the town's square, raising £1,295.

The usual book, bric-a-brac and plant stalls, together with the ever popular cake stall, helped make it a great event.

League manager Lycia Moore said: "The barbecue was a great attraction – this year selling a variety of beef burgers with a choice of additions.

"There were games including a human fruit machine which proved to be very amusing. Clothing, as always, did well."

The Seaton Friends Hospiscare@Home nurses were there too, providing information about the 24-hour palliative care service that they provide all year.

Lycia said: "Even though they have a heavy work load they are always ready to help raise money and awareness of what the league is doing to pay for this service."

The league's next big fundraiser will be the Christmas Fayre in Seaton Town Hall on Saturday, December 2nd.

■ SEATON Sea Angling Club's (SSAC) annual barbecue, in aid of the RNLI, was held at Axe Yacht Club and attracted more than 150 people on August 19th.

Those who attended enjoyed fabulous food cooked

by John Wallington, Lucy Dack and Oscar Sammons.

This was followed by 'pig racing' – using wind-up soft toys – in the clubhouse, which was popular with young and old alike.

John Wallington, acting chairman of SSAC, presented a cheque for £1,000, money raised at the same event last year, to Tom Crabbe from the Lyme Regis lifeboat crew.

There were some fantastic raffle prizes and this year the total raised was £1,070.

Four hurt in late night bridge collision

THREE people were taken to hospital after a collision at Weycroft Bridge, near Axminster, during the early hours of last Saturday morning (Sep 9th).

Devon & Somerset Fire & Rescue Service received a call from police reporting the RTC at around 1:15am.

Initial reports suggested up to four people were trapped inside a vehicle, and the fire & rescue service control room mobilised appliances from Axminster and Chard.

On arrival at the scene, the officer in charge of the first appliance confirmed no one was physically trapped. Fire crews checked the surrounding area using a thermal image camera.

Four casualties were involved, with two males and one female taken to hospital by land ambulance. Fire crews used small tools, an environment agency pack and a hosereel to make the scene safe.

Majorettes set for new season

AXMINSTER'S Karizma majorettes are ready to meet this year's carnival season with new uniforms, new music and new routines.

The next opportunity to see them perform is at their 'home fixture' - Axminster Carnival on Saturday, August 16th.

Open to girls and boys aged between four and 18 years, joining them is described as "a great way to make friends and to learn dance and majorette skills".

The troupe is split into three sections, based on age and experience.

These sections work together on some routines and separately for others.

Karizma train every Wednesday evening throughout the year at the Axminster Guildhall from 4pm.

A spokesperson said: "Our next intake is due to start on September 13th, ready to learn display routines for next summer."

If you would like further information, please either come along to the Guildhall on a Wednesday night or contact us by email at karizma.majorettes@outlook.com the lovely relaxed atmosphere.

"The money raised from the event will go towards the on-going delivery of Axminster Health & Wellbeing Centre's community projects, which are Axminster Food Bank and Axminster Family Wellbeing."

New gym for Honiton Celebrations as Lyme Bay Winery win award

WITH investment now secured, it's full steam ahead for a private members gym being built on Heathpark Industrial Estate in Honiton.

Over £300,000 is being invested in B! Health & Fitness, which will provide full and part-time job opportunities as well as freelance instructor roles for local people. The opening date for the gym is expected to be in January next year.

The timing and location are spot on for potential users of the new facility, as work looks set to begin on the nearby Hayne Lane housing development that could ultimately bring 300 hundred new households to the western edge of Honiton.

The gym is the brainchild of local entrepreneur Craig Bernhardt, who already runs a successful gym in Lyme Regis. The Honiton gym is being developed as a bigger enterprise and with a floorspace of 6,000 square feet it will be one of the largest bespoke gyms in East Devon outside of Exeter.

Craig said: "I'm really excited about bringing this project to fruition.

"The aim of B! Health & Fitness is to make professional and comprehensive training facilities accessible to anyone wanting to work towards improving their natural levels of fitness, whether they have previous experience of using a gym or not."

The equipment list has been chosen to be suitable for a cross-section of abilities from beginner to experienced athlete and trainer level and promises to offer a comprehensive range of activities: from cardio, resistance and functional training to group classes.

The gym will include Honiton's first bespoke indoor cycling studio and intends to bring a variety and fun training styles.

"As a private membership club, our purpose is to provide a holistic service that is based around individual aims and needs," explained Craig.

"Staff will engage at a personal level, to ensure members receive exactly the right support and motivation, from personal training through to nutritional advice."

Peter Hodges

Reporter | peter@viewnews.co.uk

Various levels of membership will be available, with some levels having limited numbers. Members are being accepted from November on a first-come, first-served basis and the joining fee will be waived for anyone taking out a 12-month membership before the opening date.

Craig added: "We are intending to open the doors in early January, exactly the right time for anyone wanting to improve fitness levels for 2018."

■ GYM boss Craig Bernhardt

DEVON based Lyme Bay Winery is celebrating again this month after winning the 'Best Wine' category in the third Great British Food Awards for its sparkling rosé.

This follows on from being awarded a number of high profile drinks awards over the past few months, including a BRC Global Standard (Issue 7) with a Grade A rating, adding to their already impressive reputation as a leading English wine producer.

Since launching the English wines in 2015, Lyme Bay Winery has acquired an impressive 70 awards for still and sparkling wines, including the Pinot Noir Masters Competition, the Independent English Wine Awards, the International Wine Challenge, the Sommelier Wine Awards, the Decanter World Wine Awards, the International Wine & Spirits Competition and the UKVA Wine Awards.

On the latest success, managing director James Lambert, said: "We had a vision to become known as one of England's finest wine producers."

"We are therefore thrilled to win Best Wine in the Great British Food Awards, on top of the flurry of awards we have received recently which is creating global recognition."

Judge Grace Dent, food critic at the Evening Standard, commented: "I was a sucker for a rosé brut anyway, and then this absolute gem came along from Axminster in Devon."

"A pretty pale pink hue with gorgeous notes of apple and raspberry. Sweet and charming enough to win over even the hardest of hearts. Perfect with fish. Actually, perfect with almost anything!"

An official spokesperson for Great British Food praised the team: "We had a huge number of great entries this year so you should be very proud indeed!"

Lyme Bay Sparkling Rosé is made by the assemblage method, which involves blending a small portion of Pinot Noir red wine with Lyme Bay's Blanc de Noir cuvée base wine.

The red wine was produced from a small parcel of exceptionally ripe Burgundy clone Pinot Noir grapes, which were hand-harvested.

Once blended with the Blanc de Noir the resulting Sparkling Rosé is a vibrant soft pink wine with notes of wild strawberries, pepper and redcurrant on the nose and a bright, fruit-driven palate with a richness of honey and hits of brioche and almond.

Lyme Bay Sparkling Rosé is available direct from Lyme Bay Winery (RRP £24.50).

Ottery St. Mary Active life and Active mind

For extracurricular activity, Ottery St Mary would receive an A* thanks to the vast range of activities for the public to keep an active mind and an active lifestyle.

Keeping active doesn't only mean hitting the gym regularly (although that is one way to do it), keeping active is all about making sure your mind is as healthy as your body, this can be achieved in several ways. Maybe by learning a new language? Or volunteering with local organisations?

Last year, Ottery St Mary Town Council gave their support, to an initiative from Cllr Josefina Gori to promote how to keep an active mind and life in Ottery.

Mrs Gori, who is a Spanish teacher has spelled out nine reasons why learning a new language can be beneficial to you.

1. Meet new people

One of the most phenomenal benefits of learning a new language? Doors are opened to you around the world. If you're learning in a group setting, you immediately have new friends to share your new language with. If not, then once you go somewhere and are actually able to employ what you've learned, you'll be surprised how open people are when you speak their mother tongue.

2. Employers love it (and they'll love you more)

If your C.V. accolades include fluency in a second language, your chances of employment in today's economy are much greater for you than for those who speak only one language.

Multilingual people are able to communicate and interact within multiple communities. Potential employers consider this a valuable asset in an employee's skill set, as they're able to connect with a broader range of people. In this new age of start-ups, companies are increasingly breaking into new markets. You up your personal and professional value if you're able to negotiate with manufacturers in another country or communicate with customers who don't speak your native language.

Not to mention, your ability to speak a second language conveys that you're motivated and driven to learn new skills, and this also gives you a competitive edge over those who haven't yet become bilingual.

3. It's becoming essential

Many would argue that bilingualism is becoming a progressively necessary and essential skill for anyone who wants to keep up with today's rapidly increasing global economy. As more and more people recognize the importance of learning an additional language, those who only speak one language will begin to get left behind in our shift towards a more integrated and connected

Beth and Andy Taylor who run Ottery Tae-Kwon Do, are 2nd degree black belts and have been training in the martial art since 2003. The dynamic duo are encouraging people of all ages and abilities to try out the martial arts as there is more benefits then just being able to defend yourself.

- Total body workout: Martial arts are a high-aerobic workout that uses every muscle group in the body. Your stamina, muscle tone, flexibility, balance and strength will all improve through martial arts.

- Healthy lifestyle: Due to the total-body nature of a martial arts workout, tons of calories are burned during every class. However, you'll also find that your natural eating signals become better regulated, so food cravings will disappear and you'll eat less as a result.

- Self confidence: Due to the goal setting, positive encouragement and respect for values that are part of all martial arts programs, the greatest benefit usually reported by martial arts students is greater self-confidence. You become more comfortable in all situations – whether you're in danger or simply doing a task that takes you beyond your comfort zone — and you'll discover you can accomplish anything you set your mind to.

- Improved cardiovascular health: Research has found that the only real way to improve the status of the global society.

4. It's great for traveling

Austrian philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein is credited with saying that "the limits of your language are the limits of your world," and he was right.

Knowing more than one language opens up your vacation destination possibilities. Traveling through a foreign country becomes much easier if you can speak the language of that country. Fluency isn't required. Locals anywhere appreciate that you've taken the time to at least attempt to learn and communicate in their tongue. It shows a greater level of respect and is an easy way to meet new people.

Also, getting to a comfortable speaking level in a foreign language is a great motivator to get you out there and practicing your new language in a new country.

5. After learning one, it's easier to learn another

As you begin to learn a second language, you'll find that the acquisition techniques you're using can be applied to learning additional languages as well.

The positive cognitive effects of learning to speak a second language can train the brain to analyse and process different linguistic structures. It's not specific to your first target language — it's a skill that can be applied to learning any language.

6. You become smarter

Acquiring a second language improves your memory and increases your attention span. The process of becoming bilingual exercises your brain, challenges you to concentrate and boosts your problem solving skills.

Bilingual students tend to score higher on standardized tests than monolingual students, especially in the areas of vocabulary, reading and math. As you learn to toggle from one language to another, you improve your multitasking abilities. Bilingual individuals have also been shown to be more logical and rational, have better decision-making skills and be more perceptive and aware of their surroundings.

7. You'll stay smarter for longer

Recent research has shown that bilingualism can stave off the effects of Alzheimer's and dementia by years. Regardless of their education level, gender or occupation, bilingual subjects in the linked study experienced the onset of Alzheimer's, on average, 4 1/2 years later than monolingual subjects did.

8. It boosts your creativity

Researchers are also concluding that multilingual speakers are more creative than monolingual speakers. Learning a foreign language improves not only your ability to solve problems and to think more logically, it also makes you experiment with new words and phrases.

9. It builds up your self-confidence

You're about to teach yourself to believe, "yes, I can." It'll become your new personal mantra.

Confidence increases when a new skill is mastered, and learning a foreign language is no different. It increases your self-confidence. And let's face it: confident people are more interesting than those who are unsure of themselves. The techniques you use to develop a second tongue result in a greater sense of open-mindedness.

There are lots of ways to stay active and happy in Ottery St Mary, with plenty for the whole family to get involved with.

cardiovascular system is by participating in activities that stress the heart, such as martial arts.

• Weight loss: A one-hour session of moderate intensity martial arts can burn up to 500 calories.

• Improved reflexes: Research has found that by participating in martial arts, you not only improve your reflexes while performing the activity, but actually experience faster reaction times during all activities of your life. This is very important in a number of daily activities, such as driving.

• Focus and stillness: As Bruce Lee pointed out, behind the punches, kicks and knees, a true martial artist learns to sit with himself and see where his weaknesses are. As a martial artist, your will learn what it is to be still, challenged and focused.

• Teaches great morals and values: Martial arts wisdom has it that after consistent practice, one becomes less impulsive and aggressive towards others. The Shaolin moral code for example comprises 12 ethics, 10 forbidden acts and 10 obligations. Patience, insight and calmness are considered pre-requisites of good Kung Fu. This reminds students of the right attitude, frame of mind and virtues to strive for inside and outside the studio.

• Muscle tone: By participating in martial arts, you can greatly improve the amount of muscle mass you have in your body. The higher your muscle mass, the higher your metabolic demands will be, and subsequently the more calories you will burn each day, thereby helping prevent obesity and promote weight loss. High levels of muscle mass also lead to increased agility, thereby preventing falls as you age.

• Better mood: Researchers have found that participating in a regular exercise routine is one of the best ways to improve your mood. Performing martial arts is not only a good way to relieve stress and frustration, but may actually help to make you happier. The endorphins released by physical activity appear to be active in your body for as many as four hours after exercise.

SPANISH CLASSES

WHY would you like to learn a language? There is now good evidence to show that bilingualism could protect the brain in later life. We all look at keeping our body fit but very often forget about keeping our brain fit. The Spanish classes at the Town Council give you an opportunity to put that brain to work while enjoying a friendly, active and motivating atmosphere.

Learning can only take place when you are enjoying what you do and we can assure you both will happen when you join our classes. All levels are offered, from Beginners to Advanced and Conversation in day and evening classes, plus the added attraction of allowing you to move from one group to another one during the term when working or personal circumstances dictate it. Our end of term Spanish Dinners are very popular and also all the different activities programmed during the term. Come, join us and you won't be disappointed (the coffee is good too). Call Josefina at 01404 811583 or 07941 459441 for more information as her 37 years of experience in Adult Education will come handy when finding the course that will best suit you.

New season for art societies

■ LYME & AXMINSTER ART SOCIETIES: September brings in the new programmes for both the Lyme Regis and Axminster art societies.

Both had very successful exhibitions during the summer when the Lyme Regis society held their Annual Exhibition in the Town Mill Malthouse Gallery over Whitsun; they also exhibited during Lyme's Lifeboat Week in July.

The Axminster society exhibited in their own marquee at the Axe Vale Festival in June and are planning another exhibition in the Lyme Regis Town Mill Malthouse Gallery this November.

Now autumn is here and the Lyme Regis Art Society opens its new season on Tuesday, September 19th, from 2pm-4pm in the Woodmead Halls, Hills Road, Lyme Regis, when Mike McDonald will be using water-colour and mixed-media to demonstrate 'E.J. Widgey - Painting like a Moorland Master'.

At the turn of the 20th century, Widgey was producing beautiful watercolours of Dartmoor and images of his work can be seen online.

Further details of the new programme and about our society can be found on our website www.lymeregisartsociety.org.uk

Axminster Art Society Society opened with a demonstration on Wednesday, September 20th in the United Reformed Church Hall, Axminster, when Richard Turner demonstrated work in pastels; this will be followed by his all-day workshop in All Saints Village Hall on Saturday, October 7th.

Richard works from his studio in Meare, in the heart of the Somerset levels.

He works in pastel on a variety of surfaces often incorporating liquid mediums to produce beautifully evocative local land and seascapes, together with more figurative pieces depicting snapshots of everyday life.

He says his 'representative impressionism' is aimed at the emotions rather than the intellect, attempting to capture the essence of time and place. His work can be seen on his website online.

The website - www.axminsterartsociety.uk - has details of all the programme and about the society in general.

Both societies welcome visitors and new members so we hope to see you all in a few weeks' time.

■ AXMINSTER & DISTRICT PROBUS: The speaker at the September meeting was Philip Algar, a local writer and retired journalist and broadcaster.

He concentrated on the odd things he had encountered during his career which had included work for three oil companies as an economist followed by 30 years in journalism.

He has also published a number of books about his father's war experiences and his own career.

Philip has taken a special interest in "ridiculous" newspaper headlines, examples of which included: 'State school pupils told to beat private pupils', 'Judge to rule on nudist beach', 'Our raison d'être is to perform in English' and 'Alcohol was to blame for drink-related accidents'.

Mr Algar also reported how on one occasion he had been mistaken for former US Vice-President Al Gore! His encounters with well known personalities, mainly as a broadcaster, were numerous and sometimes hilarious, but it is probably advisable that the names of those involved are not revealed. His audience, however, was kept amused.

The speaker at next month's meeting (October 3rd) will be Peter Harvey from Devon Free-wheelers.

The Axminster & District Probus Club for retired and semi-retired business and professional men meets at Cricket St Thomas Golf Club on the A30 east of Chard (TA20 4DG) on the first Tuesday of each month.

Prospective members are always welcome. For further information ring 01460 220528.

ROB Robinson lives in Axminster and is a local ambassador for Wave Trust, a UK-based charity seeking to reduce child maltreatment by 70 per cent by 2030. The campaign is named 70/30 and Mr Robinson was one of its speakers during a reception in Parliament this year.

● WHERE were you born and where did you grow up?

I was born in London and grew up in London, but we moved around a lot as a family

● WHEN and why did you move to Axminster, and what do you do for a living?
I work in adult social care and have done for the past 30 years. I got a transfer six years ago. At the moment I work for Addaction

● TELL us about the 70/30 campaign.

The campaign is aimed at government directly and making the decision-makers take notice that there should be more protection for children and support for families so child abuse/neglect doesn't happen.

One in five children in the UK suffer significant abuse and/or neglect during their lifetime.

Ninety per cent of those individuals affected by child abuse and/or neglect receive no help at all.

The 70/30 Campaign's primary aim is to lead a UK-wide network of 70/30 Ambassadors, which aims to create a groundswell of support - locally and nationally - to influence policy-makers to invest in primary prevention.

● HOW did you become involved with the 70/30 campaign?

Last year I saw an advert that asked if I care about future outcomes for children and would I be interested in campaigning for justice so child abuse becomes a thing of the past. I applied and interviewed and was accepted into this fantastic group of campaign ambassadors.

● WHY is the 70/30 campaign so close to your heart?
As a child I witnessed horrendous acts of violence induced by large amounts of alcohol that shook my childhood home to the core and made growing up pretty much hard work.

● HOW can local people find out more about it and support the 70/30 campaign?

They can email me at axminster@70-30.org.uk; on the 70/30 web site they can receive a newsletter by subscribing through a web site form; social media (different channels) 1. Twitter @7030Campaign, Facebook @70

seconds

30Campaign,
Instagram
@7030Campaign.

● WHAT has been the highlight of your campaign involvement so far?

I have had quite a few but, I have to be honest, speaking at the House of Lords on the very subject of child abuse and being able not only to tell my own story, but give accounts of the stories of many children who are still being neglected and abused.

● WHERE do you see the 70/30 campaign being at a local level in a year's time?

I would like to see the group growing and having a team of campaigners, with a number of roles from social media to writing to MPs or even organising events to raise awareness.

● DO YOU have any hobbies?

I have a four-year-old son, so at the moment anything paw patrol, and long walks. I enjoy the beautiful countryside of Axminster, so tend to get out for long walks and, recently, running.

● WHAT is your favourite food/drink?

I travelled and spent a long time living in Australia and Asia, so do enjoy cooking Asian dishes from scratch. On drinking, give me a strong coffee any day.

● WHAT is your favourite holiday destination?

In my lifetime it would have to be Tonga and Fiji but, in more recent times and living in Devon for the last six years, it would have to be just getting to know the South West. I really love it here.

● WHAT makes you happy?

My son is a source of my inspiration and my greatest teacher and makes me so proud to be his father.

● WHAT makes you angry?

People who know bad things are happening but don't want to do anything about it, just believing someone else will deal with it.

The more we stand together and have one voice, the more decision makers will have to listen.

We just make things better!

Cycle -to-Work

★ WEDNESDAY 13TH SEPTEMBER ★

Pledge, cycle and party your way to a better commute this Cycle to Work Day

CYCLE to Work Day encourages adults across the UK to get on their bike and give cycle commuting a go for one day. Why? – because cycling to work is brilliant! It's an easy way to boost your health and fitness, improve your wellbeing and show some love to the environment.

This year's event takes place on Wednesday 13th September and it's our fifth birthday – so the celebration of cycling will be bigger than ever! Cycle to Work Day started in 2013, and every year this annual event has grown. Today, it's a way of celebrating those who are already passionate cycle commuters, as well as those who are giving it a go for the very first time.

So dust off your favourite bike and get ready to join in the UK's biggest one-day celebration of cycle commuting on Wednesday 13th September 2017.

STEP 1: PLEDGE

Visit the Cycle to Work Day website and pledge the support of your organisation for the day.

STEP 2: PROMOTE

Shout about Cycle to Work Day with your colleagues. Send an email, tell everyone in your team meeting or pop up posters in the office.

STEP 3: PARTY

Have fun and celebrate the cyclists in your office. Host a breakfast for riders, invite a local store to visit the office, or set your own cycling challenge.

Axcess Electric Bikes

As part of the strategy to reduce the effects of Nitrogen dioxide and diesel particulates, the government is keen to promote cycling to work. There are several Different Cycle to Work Schemes, all of which save the employee money by allowing an employee to purchase an electric bike by "salary sacrifice". This means that the instalment on your bike is deducted from your salary before Tax and National insurance is deducted.

The Green Commute Initiative is an innovative new Cycle to Work scheme ideal for electric bikes as there is no £1,000 Limit and you can pay up to 24 months. It offers up to 42% savings on bikes for employees (depending on your tax status) as part of the Government's Green Transport plan. There is no joining fee for employers and bikes can be arranged one at a time. The bikes can often be financed so there is no impact on the employer's cash flow. It then becomes a "No Cost Employee Benefit".

If your employer is a member of Cycle Scheme, then you usually apply on line and need not nominate a retailer or specific electric bike. Your employer will then be asked to purchase a Certificate of your selected value, usually up to £1000. You redeem the certificate with your chosen Cycle Scheme retailer.

If you commute by bus or walking, an electric bike is an opportunity to adjust your daily routine. Journeys are made much easier due to the uphill assistance provided by the motor meaning that you can enjoy your commute at a relaxed and steady pace. Realistically, you can average 12-13 mph on an electric bike and arrive without breaking out in a sweat. With workplace parking charges becoming a reality, the popularity of the electric bike for commuting can only increase.

Sun shines for Hawkchurch fete

IT WAS a case of 'hot and sunny' for Hawkchurch Village fete on Bank Holiday Monday.

All the behind the scenes planning, baking, marquee assembling, grass cutting, sign posting and the myriad of other tasks made for an enjoyable afternoon for young and old.

Young children were enthralled by Professor Bumble's magic shows and many had a try at some circus skills.

Xtreme Falconry's wide range of birds were beautiful and their main ring display was entertaining and informative.

Music was by WYSIWYG and there was a wide variety of stalls with traditional games, crafts and edibles as well as information and the grand draw delighted some lucky winners.

Stallholders including Hawkchurch C of E primary school, the church and community shop – as well as commercial and charitable organisations – reported brisk business, although it is possible that the ice cream stall was the most popular on the field as the sun shone all afternoon!

The church tower was opened for some energetic visitors to climb the spiral stone staircase to see the lovely view across the valley.

Karizma Majorettes finished off in fine style and tired and happy people went home – some to start planning how to make next year's event even better.

Co-organiser Ruth Churchill said: "At the time of writing the treasurer reports that attendance was close to last year; it's much too early to estimate the outcome but indicators are good. Our two main charities – Devon Air Ambulance Trust and The Project (in Axminster) – can look forward to sharing over £600 and there will be a good sum for Hawkchurch Village Hall.

"In addition, other village organisations report they are pleased with amounts raised through their stalls."

An open letter to Neil Parish

■ I FEEL it difficult to even write to you, the Conservative Party, Tory councillors; I and so many others feel so angry about the Seaton and other hospitals' bed closures.

My questions are as follows:

● WHY was the decision taken at the last moment to close Seaton beds when Sidmouth was nominated to be the hospital that closed its beds? Demographically Seaton should have been the hospital to retain its beds.

● WHY is the entire Axe Valley without any hospital beds?

● WHY, when Axminster beds closed, were we lied to in being informed that Axminster people were not to worry because Seaton hospital would remain open for the Axminster people?

● Why did Tory councillors manipulate scrutiny meetings? Sara Randall Johnson and Paul Diviani went totally against the feelings of East Devon people and EDDC councillors, they just stitched us up. The meetings were rigged.

● Why do you and Tory councillors not represent us, which is what you are voted in for?

● How safe will patients be when receiving 'care at home' or indeed if they are in hospitals a long distance away? Especially as no bus services in this area go to Tiverton, Exmouth or Sidmouth; families will not be able to see whether their sick relative is doing well.

● Do you realise the stress and anxiety that families will be subjected to?

● How is this new system going to be monitored? No one can believe that any system that the CCG or Devon NHS run will be transparent.

The people of the Axe Valley, have been betrayed – massively; they have been lied to time and time again, they simply have just been hung out to dry.

I, like all in East Devon, did not wish any hospital beds to be lost – they are important to each community.

I know so many people who voted Conservative and they tell me that they will never, ever vote Tory again.

People have totally lost trust in the Conservatives and all that they represent.

If in future months the idea to sell off Seaton Hospital arises, then there will be intense outrage; NHS Property Services should never have been introduced, they behave in a thoroughly underhand and greedy manner.

Seaton Hospital was built with the people of Seaton and surrounding areas raising half of the funding.

Since then hundreds of thousands of pounds have been raised to support and maintain the hospital; also, volunteers have and still are working hundreds of thousands of hours voluntarily.

If this hospital is ever sold off it would amount to a THEFT – LEGALISED THEFT FROM THE COMMUNITY BY THE STATE.

People here will never forget the appalling way that they have been treated and hopefully at all the subsequent elections the Conservatives will be wiped out.

They would only have brought it on themselves. This issue will not only concern elderly people, as families will feel the full impact of this cruel cut now and in later years.

Please do not write me one of your pre-printed run of the mill letters, people here are already saying that you do not answer their questions and they all get the same letter back.

DIANA NASON,
via email

SRJ should do 'honourable thing'

■ I WAS one of the people who complained to Devon County Council after the travesty of the 'scrutiny' meeting which failed to do its job of scrutinising the CCG's plans to close Seaton's hospital beds.

I was at the meeting and saw with my own eyes how the Health Scrutiny chair, Councillor Sara Randall Johnson, colluded with other Tory councillors to block the only way we could get the decision re-examined, by referring it to the Secretary of State for Health.

I've now heard from the council that there is no evidence that Randall Johnson broke the code of conduct for councillors.

I can only say that the code allows politicians to get away with murder!

However their Standards Committee has said that she needs to be not just 're-minded' but 'strongly reminded' of the importance of scrutiny.

Surely if she needs this reminder she really shouldn't be in the job at all? They've also stated that she needs 'reminding' of the need to be 'seen to be even-handed and scrupulously fair'.

That is certainly right. But isn't this such an obvious requirement for someone chairing an important meeting when our community's hospital is at stake; that something is wrong when someone who doesn't recognise this is made chair in the first place?

With this damning verdict from the standards committee, surely Sara Randall Johnson should do one honourable thing in her political career and resign as chair of the scrutiny committee?

ANNABEL SHAW,
Seaton

This time behind him is a board that reads 'Closed' and the bulldozers are already busy.

"This is a great opportunity for East Devon

■ WE WOULD like to say a huge thank you to all the lovely generous people that helped in any way with our cream tea afternoon in aid of Exeter Leukaemia Fund (ELF) on Saturday, August 12th.

Throughout the afternoon we had such a great turnout. From the many gifts donated to our raffle, to all the people that made delicious cakes for our sale.

We made a staggering £1,615.50 for ELF.

and it's just what the town needs," he says – yes, a car park.

I had this nightmare and now it's happening – it started when our MP voted to pass the Tory government Health and Social reform bill in 2012.

The timeline was not clear but the outcome was. Reduce the number of hospitals, reduce the wage bill, outsource services to private providers and when it goes wrong call for a public enquiry and blame the contractor.

More warm and empty words from our MP this week (let's make the best of the current situation?).

In the style of Monty Python, 'what's our MP done for us?' – well, he closed our hospitals.

6 WAYS PARENTS CAN HELP THEIR CHILD REACH THE TOP OF THE CLASS

By Lisa Salmon, Press Association

1. Encourage resilience

Children who do well at school aren't put off by failing- they keep trying until they get better. Your job when a child says they're rubbish or can't do something is to make them believe in themselves and keep going.

Don't say: Let me do it for you.

Do say: I know it's hard now, but you can do this if you keep trying.

2. Encourage planning and monitoring

Knowing how they're doing - that they're on track with their homework, for example - and knowing they need to put more effort into improving certain things, is very important to high performers.

Don't say: Just start somewhere and muddle along.

Do say: How are you going to tackle this? Do you know you're on track? How can you tell you're doing it right?

3. Encourage open-mindedness

Being open to new ideas is the hallmark of an advanced learner. Start with being open-minded yourself, and model what it's like to be receptive to ideas that differ from your own.

Don't say: What a stupid idea.

Do say: Isn't that interesting? I never thought of that, but that's such a good approach.

4. Encourage practice

It's the only way to get better. Make sure it's regular, deliberate and planned practice, working towards achievable incremental goals, and your child practices what he/she can't do until they can do it well.

Don't say: You've been practising long enough now, do something else.

Do say: You're really good at that now, what's the next step up?

5. Encourage curiosity

Curiosity is at the heart of all learning and the link with high performance is compelling, so encourage questions and model it yourself. Your job is to answer your children's questions initially and then later encourage them to find out the answers themselves.

Don't say: Stop asking so many questions.

Do say: I wonder why ...?

6. Encourage critical or logical thinking

The characteristic most associated with academic success is the ability to deduct, hypothesise, reason and seek evidence - Sherlock Holmes is your model for this.

Don't say: Why are you interested in that? Who cares?

Do say: Why do you think that happened? How could you work it out?

PINK HIPPO DAY NURSERY

PINK Hippo Day Nursery & Pre-school continues to offer high quality education and care for children in both its 9 place nursery and 31 place pre-school.

Due to the strong bonds formed with families and a focus on self-help skills, children who remain with Pink Hippo throughout their early years are confident, ready and able to take the big step to move on to school and greater independence. Their facilities include a dedicated sensory room and a large outdoor area, which has been developed to support the individual ways children learn.

The dynamic curriculum and learning intentions are always based around children's individual interests and needs, with an emphasis on them having a 'hands on' learning experience. Outings into the local community are key to achieving this including Axe Estuary Wetlands, the Donkey Sanctuary, Library, and School. The latest focus is on developing links with a local Residential Home for the elderly, with regular visits and activities planned which benefit all involved.

Government funded sessions for eligible 2, 3 and 4 year olds are available and the setting has the flexibility to provide ongoing and wrap around care for working parents or those who would simply like their child to socialise with others in a safe, stimulating and fun environment.

HONITON COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Whatever your child's abilities and interests, Honiton Community College has a lot to offer!

THIS year we are celebrating our best ever results at GCSE and A level! At A level our results were in the top 10% of schools in the country and two thirds of the cohort achieved the equivalent of 5+A*-C inc. English and Maths at GCSE level, with a quarter of all entries being A*/A. This is a superb achievement for a non-selective, comprehensive school. Indeed, we pride ourselves on our inclusive approach, working together, as a community, to provide a first-class education that helps develop rounded students that are ready to take on the challenges of adulthood.

"the good behaviour and attitudes of pupils contribute to the orderly, purposeful and positive atmosphere in the school. Relationships with pupils are very positive and contribute to pupils' progress because they are keen to learn" (Ofsted 2016)

Students of all abilities are successful at Honiton Community College, and standards have continued to rise in recent years. The vast majority of our students will continue into further education, with many in our

CHARD SCHOOL

ONE of the oldest schools in the country, Chard School has been educating children in its historic buildings on the same site since 1671.

Chard is a small independent school for children aged four to eleven with an excellent academic record, situated in Chard, close to the meeting point of Somerset, Devon and Dorset. The extensive curriculum is designed to prepare pupils for independent, state and grammar school entrance as well as scholarship examinations. At Chard, our guiding principle is to find the most effective teaching approach for each and every child and to install a sense of fun and discovery into the learning process.

Our pupils are happy and motivated learners who truly benefit from the individual tuition our small classes can give them, and who also have the opportunities to become involved in the many artistic, musical and sporting activities that are on offer. As an intentionally small school we are able to cultivate a true 'family feel' where all adults and children know each other well and benefit from the friendly and supportive environment that we encourage.

Our next Open Morning will be on Saturday 7th October, 9.30-11.30am. Visitors will have the opportunity to meet staff and pupils, have a tour of our extensive facilities and take in our wonderful historical buildings on the way! 5 BACK TO SCHOOL BUGS AND HOW TO SPOT THE SYMPTOMS

1. Chickenpox

Chickenpox is a common childhood illness and almost impossible to avoid. It causes a rash of red, itchy spots that turn into fluid-filled blisters after about 12 hours. A few days later, the blisters will crust over to form scabs that fall off after a week or two. The rash normally appears in clusters behind the ears, on the face and scalp, and under arms - on most parts of the body, in fact. The condition tends to be mild and clears up naturally in a week or two. Calamine lotion can ease the itching.

2. Colds and flu

For standard symptoms such as coughing, fever, sneezing, sore throats and body aches, resting is the best medicine, along with drinking plenty of water. If fever persists, children shouldn't go to school and should see a GP.

3. Hand foot and mouth disease

This infection causes mouth ulcers and spots on the hands and feet. It's most common in children under 10 but can affect older children and adults. It usually clears up by itself within a week to 10 days. Early symptoms include a fever, loss of appetite, coughing and sore throat. After a day or two, painful mouth ulcers develop and small, red spots may appear on fingers, palms and soles. But Dr Rankin stresses: "The infection isn't related to the foot and mouth disease which affects cattle, sheep and pigs."

4. Measles

Measles is a highly infectious viral illness and early symptoms can include a runny nose, red eyes, swollen eyelids, sneezing and fever. A few days later, a red-brown spotty rash appears and lasts for about a week. It starts behind the ears, before spreading around the head and neck, and eventually to the legs and the rest of the body. Anyone can get measles, although it's most common in young children and typically clears by itself in about a week to 10 days if there are no complications. But measles can be a serious illness and up to one in 20 infected children develop pneumonia, while one-two infected children in every thousand die from it. A similar number are left with deafness or intellectual disability.

5. Tonsillitis

Tonsillitis is inflammation of the tonsils, usually caused by a viral infection or, less commonly, a bacterial infection. The condition is most common in children, teenagers and young adults. The main symptom is a sore throat with red swollen tonsils. Others include white pus-filled spots on the tonsils, pain on swallowing, a fever, coughing, headache, tiredness, pain in the ears or neck, and swollen glands in the neck. Bed rest and plenty of fluid will aid a speedy recovery.

WADHAM SCHOOL

Wadham School serves the communities of Ilminster, Crewkerne and the surrounding villages. Children join us in Year 9 mainly from the Middle Schools in the two towns. We work closely with both schools to ensure as good a transition as possible.

As well as our strong academic performance, we offer a wide range of extracurricular activities. Every year we put on a whole school musical production involving students from all years. In 2017 the school production was 'Guys & Dolls' and in previous years we have performed 'Our House', 'Grease', 'Return to the Forbidden Planet' and 'We Will Rock You'. In 2017, we had a record number of students complete their Bronze Duke of Edinburgh Award thanks to the support of a large number of staff. The award required the students to complete four sections: skill, volunteering, physical and an expedition. Many of these students will now progress to the Silver Award.

Wadham provides students with opportunities for getting involved in individual and team sports and has continued to excel in football and futsal with successes in the area and county cups in most age groups in recent years.

At the end of Year 11 many of our students continue into the Sixth Form where there is a comprehensive programme of guidance for the next stage be that employment and training or Higher Education. Students at Wadham who apply to university win a place and the majority of them at their first choice.

In addition to their academic studies they make the most of the range of opportunities to develop their teamwork and leadership skills often taking the key roles in school activities.

Wadham School have an Open Evening on Monday 25 September, 6-8pm which includes a presentation by the head teacher, a student led school tour and the opportunity to meet teaching staff.

Region's troops spearhead relief effort in Caribbean in wake of Hurricane Irma West Country troops were last night spearheading Britain's massive relief effort across a Caribbean laid waste by Hurricane Irma. The captain responded to criticism that Britain had been too slow in providing relief to the area, saying: "We were here, we were on task, we were right behind Irma." Devonport-based HMS Ocean is heading towards the disaster zone while helicopters from RNAS Yeovilton's B15 Squadron were delivering aid. The Ministry of Defence said there are just under 200 troops in the region made up of marines, engineers, medics and specialists, including Army and RAF personnel. Army soldiers have deployed from RFA Mounts Bay to the British Virgin Islands, while an A400 flight brought a further 50 marines. The hurricane weakened to category three yesterday as it regained the north coast of Cuba. But it was expected to regain its strength before hitting the Florida Keys this morning with 10mph winds. Following criticism of the Government's response to the disaster, ministers announced a £2 million relief package and pledged to double any public donations to the British Red Cross appeal for victims of Hurricane Irma, up to £3 million. Irma claimed at least 20 lives, including at least four in the British Virgin Islands and one each on Antigua and Barbuda, and left thousands of people homeless when it smashed into the region on Wednesday.

Gas Safety Week .co.uk

Keeping our nation safe

18th - 24th September

www.gassaferegister.co.uk

GAS Safety Week is a national safety campaign to raise awareness of gas safety in the UK's 23 million gas fuelled homes. It is co-ordinated by Gas Safe Register with support from the gas industry including retailers, manufacturers, consumer bodies and the public.

The seventh annual Gas Safety Week will see organisations from across the UK working together to raise awareness of the dangers of poorly maintained gas appliances, which can cause gas leaks, fires, explosions and carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning.

Get ready for winter!

EVERGREEN are now Gas Safe registered engineers able to service and maintain gas boilers.

It is important get your boiler serviced regularly to make sure it is functioning correctly. A faulty or inefficient boiler will cost more to run, burn more gas and may even leak harmful carbon monoxide. This poisonous gas is invisible and does not smell, another reason why it is recommended that your gas appliances are serviced by a Gas Safe registered engineer once a year.

It is usually a condition of a boiler warranty that the appliance is serviced annually and a record kept.

Our engineers are also able to check your radiator or under floor heating system to make sure it is running correctly and efficiently.

BADLY fitted and poorly serviced gas cookers, fires and boilers can put you at risk from carbon monoxide poisoning, gas leaks, fires and explosions. Just like you get your car MOT every year, you should have your home gas safety checked every year by a Gas Safe registered engineer.

Did you know?

EVERY year thousands of people across the UK are diagnosed with carbon monoxide poisoning. It is a highly poisonous gas. You can't see it, taste it or smell it, but it can kill quickly with no warning.

Gas Safe Register found almost 5 million people across the UK are putting themselves at risk by employing illegal gas fitters who aren't properly qualified. 65% of all gas jobs carried out by illegal fitters were unsafe, with 1 in 5 so dangerous they had to be disconnected immediately. (2017 research)

This year we cast a light on the more vulnerable people in our society. New research revealed nearly 8 million older people could be at risk from unsafe gas appliances in the UK. More than 260 over-65s are injured by gas appliances every year, with gas red heaters accounting for the majority of deaths. Worryingly, we found that older people are half as likely as other age groups to have gas work carried out by a professional Gas Safe registered engineer.

With three in four people having never discussed gas safety with older family members, we were encouraging the public to take the opportunity to do so.

Is Your gas engineer qualified to work on your gas appliances?

All gas engineers on the Gas Safe Register are legal & qualified to work on gas.

USING a Gas Safe registered engineer is the only way to make sure your gas appliances are safe.

What is a Gas Safe registered engineer?

A Gas Safe registered engineer has been checked to make sure they are competent and qualified to work safely and legally with gas.

To find a gas engineer in your area you can use our find a Gas Safe registered business service online or call 0800 408 5500.

How do I know my gas engineer is qualified to do the work?

Gas engineers will often have a range of qualifications that allow them to carry out specific types of gas work. It's important to check what work they are qualified to do before you use them. You can find this information using our check an engineer service and by looking on the back of their Gas Safe Register ID card.

Every gas engineer carries a Gas Safe Register ID card with their own unique licence number, showing the type of gas work they are qualified to do. Before any gas work is carried out, always make sure you ask to see their Gas Safe Register ID card.

Why do I need to make sure my gas engineer is on the Gas Safe Register?

It's all about safety. If someone other than a Gas Safe registered engineer does the gas work in your home, you could be risking the safety of your family and your property. Badly fitted and poorly serviced gas appliances can cause gas leaks, fires, explosions and carbon monoxide poisoning.

Top tips to stay Gas Safe

WE RELY on our gas boilers, cookers and fires to keep warm, have hot baths and showers and cook hot meals. It's important that gas appliances are safety checked every year and regularly serviced to help keep us safe and prevent them from breaking down when we need them the most.

Stay Gas Safe in your home with these top tips:

1. Always use a Gas Safe registered engineer to fit, fix and service gas appliances in your home - it's the law and will help keep you safe.
2. Always ask to see an engineer's Gas Safe Register ID card and check the back of the card to ensure they are qualified to carry out the specific type of gas work you need.
3. Have all your gas appliances, including boilers, gas cookers and gas fires, safety checked every year.

4. Find a Gas Safe registered engineer in your area or call the free helpline on 0800 408 5500

5. Unsafe gas appliances can put you at risk of carbon monoxide poisoning, gas leaks, fires and explosions. Recognise the symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning - headaches, dizziness, nausea, breathlessness, collapse and loss of consciousness.

6. Check gas appliances for warning signs that they are not working properly e.g. lazy yellow flames instead of crisp blue ones, black marks or stains on or around the appliance and too much condensation in the room.

7. Buy an audible carbon monoxide alarm for your home and make sure it is located near to your gas appliances in accordance with the manufacturer's guidance. Carbon monoxide can leak from appliances and kill.

8. Only use gas appliances for their intended purpose e.g. don't use a gas oven to heat a room or use a gas barbecue inside the house.

9. Always ensure there is enough ventilation for your gas appliances to allow them to burn correctly and make sure you are not blocking any air vents that provide an air supply to the gas appliance.

10. Anybody working with gas has to be Gas Safe registered by law. Report someone working without registration or call Gas Safe Register on the free phone number 0800 408 5500.

Cartoon hero Doug is the mascot for the week. Doug has become a recognised character associated with the campaign and was used by many supporters to help communicate gas safety messages to the public.

Carbon Monoxide Poisoning - What are the Symptoms?

What is CO poisoning?

UNSAFE gas appliances can produce a highly poisonous gas called carbon monoxide (CO). It can cause death as well as serious long term health problems such as brain damage.

CO is produced by the incomplete burning of natural gas or liquefied petroleum gas (LPG). This happens when a gas appliance has been incorrectly fitted, badly repaired or poorly maintained. It can also occur if flues, chimneys or vents are blocked.

Oil and solid fuels such as coal, wood, petrol and oil can also produce carbon monoxide.

CO poisoning occurs when you breathe in the gas and it replaces oxygen in your bloodstream. Without oxygen, your body tissue and cells die. Even small amounts of the gas can cause CO poisoning, and long term effects can include paralysis and brain damage.

Remember the six main symptoms to look out for:

- Headaches
- Dizziness
- Nausea
- Breathlessness
- Collapse
- Loss of consciousness

Being aware of the symptoms could save your life

CO symptoms are similar to those of flu, food poisoning, viral infections and fatigue. That's why it's quite common for people to mistake this very dangerous poisoning for something else.

What to do if you suspect CO poisoning

Get fresh air immediately. Open doors and windows, turn off gas appliances and leave the house.

See your doctor immediately or go to hospital - let them know that you suspect CO poisoning. They can do a blood or breath test to check.

If you think there is an immediate danger, call the Gas Emergency Helpline on 0800 111 999.

Ask a Gas Safe registered engineer to inspect your gas appliances and flues to see if there is a dangerous problem.

The warning signs of a CO leak

Any of the following could be a sign of CO in your home:

- Flames of a lazy yellow or orange colour on your gas hob, rather than being a crisp blue
- Dark staining on/around appliances
- Pilot lights that frequently blow out
- Increased condensation inside windows.

CHG South West offer Plumbing & Heating, Electrical, Renewable and Water Treatment services in the South West. They cover everywhere in West Dorset, East Devon and South Somerset offering servicing, breakdowns and repairs and installations with a 24/7 call-out service, 365 days a year.

As a Gas Safe registered company they can offer advice for homeowners who put up with old boilers that have become unreliable and inefficient and can explain the benefits of a new boiler, with efficiency and reliability an obvious benefit. Their Vaillant boilers also now come with a 10 year warranty for added peace of mind. Company director Robin Goodfellow explains, "a big mistake that people make with regards to older boilers is not having them serviced. It is vital for any boiler, new or old, to be serviced annually. For older systems it will keep a check that everything is working as it should and help to prevent potential issues, while for new boilers it will be a warranty requirement."

He continues, "think of it like a service and MOT on a car. We offer Service Plan cover which gives clients the option of spreading the servicing cost monthly over the year whilst also giving them guaranteed callout within 24 hours and discounts on further works."

Jazz with a smile

TWO OF Britain's brightest young jazz stars are making a return visit to Ilminster Arts Centre on Friday 29 September. The Amy Roberts/ Richard Exall Quintet, which last played IAC in 2015, features two of the most exciting and versatile musicians on the jazz scene. Amy and Richard are both multi-instrumentalists who perform an eclectic range of high-octane music on a range of clarinets, saxophones and flute; their Quintet was voted "Band of the Year" in 2014 by Rochdale Jazz Society.

Drawing inspiration from their all-time heroes of reed players, Amy and Richard craft gorgeous arrangements that pay homage to Johnny Hodges, Lester Young, Earl Bostic, Benny Goodman, Eddie "Lockjaw" Davis, Cannonball Adderley, Charlie Parker and many more. Together, Richard Exall and Amy Roberts make music that crosses the traditional divides of the jazz world, performing melodic and intricate arrangements that appeal to listeners of all styles of music. Amy says their approach 'is about lively, energetic jazz that makes people smile.'

Amy and Richard's most recent album, "Hodge-Stic" came out in 2016 and has been highly praised by Just Jazz magazine, whose critic described it as "A really enjoyable CD. Everything swings; great arrangements, wonderful technique throughout by all, some nice 'quirky' bits, but most agreeable for me, a feeling of warmth, charm and humour coming through...Highly recommended!"

The Amy Roberts / Richard Exall Quintet play at Ilminster Arts Centre on Friday, September 29th at 8pm. Tickets are £16 (pre-show supper £14 at 7pm, but must be booked in advance). For more details call 01460 55783 or visit the website at www.themeetinghouse.org.uk

Miranda Sykes tour comes to Devon

MIRANDA Sykes, the acclaimed singer and bassist with 'Show of Hands' is returning to her roots.

After a career spanning over 20 years, during which time she has played with many of the top musicians and singers within the folk world, she will be touring as she started out: One woman, one bass, and one guitar.

Borrowed Places is her debut solo album and draws its inspiration primarily from the songs and landscape of her native Lincolnshire but seen through the eyes of someone who has lived away for many years. The themes are not specific; the land changes, it grows, it shrinks, it adapts and it resists but most of all it lives and breathes.

With her sensational voice, and accompanying herself, Miranda interprets the soul of the land and takes her audience on a journey that resonates with us all, wherever we live and it is one you won't want to miss.

■ Miranda Sykes

Her new album Borrowed Places is out now and she will be on tour to support the release.

Miranda Sykes plays at Poltimore House, Exeter on Saturday, September 16th.

Southern Tenant Folk Union to play South Petherton gig

SEPTEMBER 2016 saw the release of the seventh Southern Tenant Folk Union album Join Forces. It was written following the May 2015 general election result, and then recorded in June and July the next year amidst the quickly changing political landscape, something that made the suite of songs seem timelier still. And as we know. With the even greater hindsight in July 2017, politics has shifted again and the band's single from the album, What Would You Give For A Leader With Soul?, now seems almost prophetic as the STFU do the final few dates in support of the record.

Musically the album harked back to the more roots and bluegrass sounding earlier albums and is divided into two main strands. Firstly there are some tracks which have a much poppier and melodic approach than in the past. Songs such as the dynamic opener To The War, the frantic Arthur Lee & Love influenced The Media Attack, Rory Butler's Carefully Does It and the title track Join Forces. Then, secondly, several songs deliberately take in more old-time bluegrass chord sequences and sounds. Tracks like 'Ash', a metaphor for political progress meeting the sci-fi eco movie Silent Running, and the uptempo bluegrass lament that is 'Our Revolution It Will One Day Come' which concerns the slow nature of change. Plain Stanley Brothers style A cappella harmony vocals start off 'My Grandfather's Father', before mixing in folk fiddle & percussion breakdowns and then there's the anti-themic 'What Would You Give For A Leader With Soul?', which was released as a single during the Labour Leadership election in early Sept 2016.

Whilst it did look back to an earlier Americana and old-time sound the whole thing is still subtly different to anything the band has recorded before. Containing three 'question songs' in the Pete Seeger/Phil Ochs style, the first of these is the single What Would You Give For A Leader With Soul? about the hope of better leadership, that growing pent up desire for higher standards in politics and political leaders, the same desire that saw the grass roots popularity of Jeremy Corbyn here in the UK and Bernie Sanders in the USA. Secondly comes the professional politician on the campaign trail and their sincerity with Were You Faking When You Kissed Her? The third 'question' track is the country rock era Byrds-flavoured What Kind Of Worker Do You Want To Be? and looked to mix the politics of unionising and solidarity with campfire song folk.

Lead singer and guitarist Rory Butler pens two tracks for the record, firstly the opening cut To The War reflecting on the frustration of us all being complicit in war abroad and in despair at the 'war' on those least fortunate in our society. The second track, Carefully Does It, brings a 70s pop almost Jimmy Webb styled sensibility to the album powerfully utilising the big band acoustic sound of Southern Tenant Folk Union.

A strong flavour of Scottish folk also runs across the whole record with the exciting and daring fiddle playing of Katherine Stewart intertwined throughout. Plus Katherine and percussionist Steve Fivey specially wrote the Islay Crossing Set which features three original tunes - of sometimes fiendish complexity, dynamic rhythmic impact and stark beauty - that demonstrate the link between folk and bluegrass and their relation and common currency over time.

Southern Tenant Folk Union play live at South Petherton's David Hall on Saturday, September 30th. For more details call 01460 240340 or visit www.the-davidhall.org.uk

Sparkling performance on the Beer Wurlitzer

"ONE of the best shows ever" was the verdict of the audience when musician Paul Roberts visited Beer for the first time on Saturday, September 9th and gave a superb performance on the unique Beer Wurlitzer. His programme appealed to everyone and his clever arrangements included many favourite tunes from the twenties and thirties and music that reflected his travels in the Scottish Isles, India, South America and beyond.

Paul has been a prominent name in the keyboard world for over 30 years. His concert tours have taken him to Europe, South Africa, New Zealand, the USA and Canada. On one of his many visits to the USA, he gave a solo concert in New York's Radio City Hall, the largest indoor theatre in the world. He said that he had recently played on organs with 500 ranks of pipes (stops or tone colour played across the whole keyboard) in the USA, in total contrast to the 6 ranks of pipes of the Beer Wurlitzer which he described as "a sweet baby organ". Paul complimented the team for their work in restoring the organ and said they should be very proud. He also paid tribute to the President, Trevor Bolshaw, who had been an inspiration to him in his youth when he first attended organ concerts.

The next show will be on Saturday, October 14th, when all-time favourite organist Len Rawle will be playing music for all. The shows are held at the Congregational Church, Fore Street, Beer, EX12 3JQ, starting at 2.00pm ending approx. 4.30pm. Admission is £7.00 on the door, children free, and includes interval refreshments. For further information phone 01297 24892 or visit www.beerwurlitzer.org.uk.

Carneval String Trio to play Somerset concerts

CONCERTS in the West's forthcoming October series, for concerts in Devon, Dorset and Somerset, will feature three stylish and highly accomplished string musicians, violinist Kamila Bydlowska, Shiry Rashkovsky, viola and Timothée Botbol, cello, who will perform together - as Carneval String Trio - an unusually diverse selection of music.

When musicians of this calibre combine their talents - Bydlowska, Rashkovsky and Botbol are all renowned soloists and orchestral/chamber performers - audiences can expect some pretty remarkable music making. A good trio will keep perfect time, blending together seamlessly in perfect unity while making subtle adjustments spontaneously as they interpret and shape the pieces they play.

Polish violinist Kamila Bydlowska graduated from the Royal College of Music with an Artist Diploma in Performance, having previously studied at Indiana University Jacobs School of Music in Bloomington, USA with Mauricio Fuks and Kevork Mardirossian, where she was awarded a full scholarship.

Shiry Rashkovsky, who was recently lauded by The Strad for her 'beguiling... thrilling and exuberant' Royal Festival Hall debut, pursues an international solo, chamber, teaching and orchestral career. A versatile musician, her performances have taken her across the globe to such venues as the Tel Aviv Opera House and Geneva Victoria Hall, including engagements for HRH Prince Charles and the Emperor and Empress of Japan.

Swiss cellist Timothée Botbol began his musical education in Geneva at the prestigious Jaques Dalcroze Institute and later progressed to the Geneva Conservatoire and the Haute École de Musique de Lausanne where he received his Master of Performance with distinction. Timothée is currently studying on the Artist Diploma course at the Royal College of Music, London with Alexander Chaushian.

The Carneval String Trio perform at Ilminster Arts Centre at the Meeting House on Friday, October 6th at 8pm. Tickets are £15. For more details call 01460 55783

The Trio play at The Dance House, North Street, Crewkerne on Saturday, October 7th at 7.30pm. Tickets are £15. Concessions for students and children. The key to finding your perfect home

AUTUMN HOME IMPROVEMENT PROJECTS

By Olivia Heath, House Beautiful

WITH the end of the summer holidays, suitcases packed away, and the new term of school, focus traditionally shifts to getting the home winter-ready.

This year is no different as it's already shaping up to be a peak time for home improvement, so it's time to take action on those mental lists and undertake those projects in and around the home.

Live A Life In Colour

The trend-led world of interiors sees the introduction of an exciting new range of catwalk-inspired colours every season, so why settle for magnolia when you can dramatically transform your living space with a simple coat of paint. Your home is a blank canvas. Whether you paint the dining room in readiness for the all-important Christmas lunch, or you refresh your bedroom to provide a sanctuary from family life, a paint project can help bring your home right up-to-date and can set the scene for further changes in the home.

To Let

Sleeker, faster and more technologically-advanced: Ford reveals new Ford Mustang for Europe

FORD today revealed the new Ford Mustang for Europe – delivering sleek new styling, sophisticated engine and suspension upgrades, advanced driver assistance technologies and more customisation options for the iconic sports car.

The instantly-recognisable, powerful Ford Mustang profile now delivers a sleeker, more athletic appearance, enhanced with LED lighting technology, and a choice of 11 bold exterior colours and new alloy wheel options. The new Mustang is anticipated to be the fastest accelerating ever, with an enhanced 5.0-litre V8 engine that offers an anticipated 450 PS, combining with Ford's new 10-speed automatic transmission.

Tuned to match European driving expectations, Mustang's fun-to-drive character is optimised with sophisticated new MagneRide adjustable suspension and selectable Drive Modes, including a new customisable My Mode option. A new Active Valve Performance Exhaust even delivers an innovative Good Neighbour Mode for early-morning or late-night driving.

Mustang driver assistance technologies including Pre-Collision Assist with Pedestrian Detection and Lane Keeping Aid enhance the driving experience with greater peace-of-mind. A contemporary, upscale interior features soft-touch materials and a 12-inch all-digital instrument cluster for a superior occupant experience.

"Europe's passion for Mustang has proven even greater than we imagined – almost 30,000 Mustangs are already bringing one of the most iconic sights in motoring to the continent's streets," said Steven Armstrong, group vice president and president, Europe Middle East and Africa, Ford Motor Company. "There are few cars on the road that can deliver such a combination of heritage, style and performance to such a wide audience. The new Ford Mustang offers the most compelling package yet."

Unmistakably Mustang

The exterior of the new Ford Mustang delivers a sleeker, more athletic appearance while retaining the instantly-recognisable character honed through more than 50 years of production. The bonnet profile is now lower with integrated air vents, combined with a revised lower grille design to give the Mustang a sharper, more aggressive face, while improving aerodynamics.

The Mustang's dramatic rear-end design is further enhanced with a re-modelled bumper and diffuser element, accommodating standard quad-tailpipes for the 5.0-litre V8 model that testify to the power and performance available. In addition, Mustang is now offered with a new optional boot spoiler for an even sportier profile.

Crisp, clear and energy-efficient, Mustang's headlights, daytime running lights, indicators and iconic three-dimensional tri-bar tail lights now all feature LED technology as standard for Mustang models in Europe, with LED foglights also available. The front headlight bezels also have been restyled to reflect the trapezoidal shape of the upper grille.

A wider range of customisation options will enable Mustang customers in Europe to make even more of a statement. Three bold, dynamic new metallic paint colours are available – Kona Blue, Orange Fury and Royal Crimson. New 19-inch forged alloy wheels are offered in multiple finishes each with a unique character, including Nickel, Ebony Black and Polished Aluminium.

The new Mustang interior delivers a more premium feel. Soft touch materials now feature for the door linings and the door handles are finished in aluminium. The centre console features a new hand-stitched, soft-touch wrap, finished with stitching in a contrast colour for a more dynamic and upscale feel.

Leather-trimmed, heated and cooled seats, and a heated steering wheel are also offered across the line-up for the first time for ultimate comfort. Right-hand drive customers can now also opt for the leather Recaro racing seat option in Ebony Black leather.

Deliveries of the new Ford Mustang for customers in Europe will begin in 2018.

Government's 'secret' online tool could save used car buyers £1,000s

ALMOST half of all car buyers are completely unaware of a completely free of charge service that could save them hundreds of pounds in repairs when they buy a used car.

Researchers from car buying website www.carbuyer.co.uk learned that 47% of drivers were unaware of the government's free-to-use MoT history checking service (www.check-mot.service.gov.uk/), which indicates how a car has been maintained and can help identify possibly serious faults on a potential used car purchase.

The free tool allows buyers to follow a used car's MoT history to validate mileages, identify potential minor faults, spot a lemon or even haggle the price down.

Researchers also discovered over a quarter of motorists have no idea when the MoT on their car expires.

Carbuyer editor Stuart Milne said: "We carried out a survey of motorists aged 18 to 80 and were astonished to learn that 27% of them haven't got a clue when their current MoT runs out – indeed, some of them could even be driving around without a valid test, with clear safety and legal implications.

Since you can check the MoT status and history of your car, or one you are interested in buying in seconds on your smartphone for free, there should be no excuse to be uninformed"

MoT advisory notices were introduced in 2005 as a means of telling drivers about work needed on their vehicle, which met the test requirements on the day but may need attention in the future. The most common advisories are for wear to tyres and brake friction materials, but they can also apply to more serious concerns such as the onset of body corrosion or suspension problems, which can mean the car isn't likely to pass a future test without serious amounts of work.

The MoT check website was launched in 2012, along with the requirement to display previously recorded mileages on the test certificate. However, there is still no mandatory MoT reminder service, as there is with road tax – although the MoT check website has an optional email alert feature.

"Our advice to anyone buying a used car would be to make the MoT check website their first port of call," added Milne. "It can give you so much information about a car's previous faults, and also help you steer clear of a used car that may well be hiding a very expensive fault, yet it seems that nearly half of us are prepared to buy a car without even checking its MoT history."

Carbuyer provides trusted car reviews from experts and owners, comparisons, car buying guides and more - helping you decide which car to buy.

New TVR Griffith heralds a new dawn for iconic British manufacturer WELCOMING a new era in its history, TVR has unveiled its all new sports car, the TVR Griffith, at the Goodwood Revival. Revealed to media and visitors, the Griffith is the first new TVR to be launched since the company was resurrected in British hands.

The new Griffith stays true to the brand's rich heritage, while employing cutting-edge engineering. The exterior has been designed to be as striking as it is aerodynamically efficient. The timeless sports car silhouette is accented with deep air intakes, generating high levels of downforce and cooling.

Embodying TVR's long-standing ethos of the Sprit of Driving – the principle of delivering an involving driving interface where the driver will always be fully in control – the new Griffith uses intelligent engineering over electronic driver aids. Only the second front-engined production car to feature a flat floor, the new TVR Griffith boasts a full ground-effect aerodynamic package to ensure that the car remains stable at high speeds and delivers exceptional handling abilities.

Employing Gordon Murray Design's innovative iStream architecture with carbon composite structure and body panels, the new TVR Griffith weighs just 1250kg, offers exceptional torsional rigidity and a perfect 50:50 weight distribution.

Powering the new TVR Griffith is a naturally aspirated 5.0-litre Cosworth-enhanced V8, which enables 400bhp/tonne and is mated to a six-speed manual gearbox. The new TVR Griffith achieves a top speed of more than 200mph, and accelerates from 0-60mph in less than four seconds.

Les Edgar said: "Today's unveiling is the culmination of nearly three years of tireless work by the team, and we're all proud to be able to show the new TVR Griffith to the world. This is unmistakably a TVR, a British muscle car that's as awesome and brutal as it is charismatic and refined. Importantly, the new TVR offers levels of technical sophistication, comfort, reliability and practicality never seen by the brand before."

The new TVR Griffith unveiled to the public today is presented in Launch Edition specification, which includes a full leather interior and custom alloy wheels, as well as Launch Edition paint options and a bespoke infotainment system. Starting from £90,000, production of the new TVR

Griffith Launch Edition will begin in late 2018.

TVR is also previewing the new Griffith in a striking pace car livery, signalling the brand's intention to return to the racetracks of the world in the very near future.

Nissan fuses pioneering electric innovation and ProPILOT technology to create the new Nissan LEAF

Nissan today revealed its new Nissan LEAF – the world's most advanced mass-market electric vehicle (EV) and icon of the company's Intelligent Mobility vision.

All electric, and packed with ingenious technology, the new Nissan LEAF is the company's first car in Europe that will embrace the early steps of advanced driver assistance, and is packed with cutting-edge innovations such as e-Pedal, allowing you to drive and brake in a totally new and seamless way.

It can also go further, with a range of 378 km/235 miles on a single charge, and has been redesigned for a new generation, with a sleeker look inside and out.

The new Nissan LEAF will be on sale in Europe from January 2018.

Nissan Intelligent Mobility is the company's blueprint to redefine the future of driving and looks to progress the role of the car to be more than simply a mode of transport. Nissan Intelligent Mobility is defined by how the car is driven, how it is powered and how it integrates into society.

The new Nissan LEAF is the company's on-road embodiment of Nissan Intelligent Mobility, with its early-stage of ProPILOT technologies, advanced all-electric powertrain and unique ability to connect to and power the buildings it plugs in to.

Nissan Intelligent Power

The focal point of Nissan Intelligent Power in the new Nissan LEAF is its e-powertrain, which offers improved energy efficiency and increased torque and power output for an enhanced dynamic performance. Complementing this new drivetrain is the high-tech lithium-ion battery pack, which delivers increased power and energy storage capacity.

Along with enhanced energy efficiency, the new e-powertrain delivers an exhilarating, linear driving performance with a power output of 110 kW. Torque has been increased to 320 Nm, resulting in improved acceleration.

The new Nissan LEAF's driving range has been increased to 378km/235 miles (New European Driving Cycle) on a single charge. For those who want to drive their new LEAF further, Nissan will introduce a high-power version with increased motor power and battery capacity at a higher price at the end of 2018. This version will provide an even longer range, giving customers a range choice depending on their driving needs.

Nissan Intelligent Driving:

The new Nissan LEAF features three main new intelligent driving technologies. The first is ProPILOT advanced driver assistance system. Used during single-lane driving on the highway, it makes the drive easier, less stressful and more relaxing.

The second, ProPILOT Park, will change the way people think about parking. When activated, this technology will take control of all steering, acceleration, braking and gear selection to automatically guide the car into a parking spot. It makes parking stress free and more precise for all drivers.

The third, e-Pedal, is a revolutionary technology that transforms the way we drive. It allows drivers to start, accelerate, decelerate and stop simply by adjusting their input upon the accelerator pedal. When the accelerator is fully released, regenerative and friction brakes are applied automatically, gradually bringing the car to a complete stop. The car holds its position, even on steep uphill slopes, until the accelerator is pressed again. The reactivity of e-Pedal enables drivers to maximize their driving pleasure when the road opens up.

The conventional brake pedal must still be used in aggressive braking situations.

Exterior design

The new Nissan LEAF's design expresses the company's forward-thinking attitude. The design was inspired by the IDS Concept car, which was first shown at the 2015 Tokyo Motor Show.

The front features Nissan's signature V-motion grille, echoing the DNA it shares with Nissan's other global top-sellers, such as the Nissan X-Trail and European favorite, the Nissan Qashqai. However, the grille's blue color, a new signature feature for Nissan's electric vehicles, sets it apart. The floating roof adds style and a sense of movement. The sleek LED headlamps feature Nissan's characteristic boomerang design.

The new Nissan LEAF replaces the first-generation model, which has become the world's best-selling electric vehicle. More than 283,000 customers have chosen the LEAF since the model went on sale in 2010.

Creddy smash Ax Vase hopes Hippos pick off Apples - Tigers leak 20!

Axminster Town 2 Crediton United 4

FA Vase 1st Qualifying round
AXMINSTER Town's historic first ever foray in the FA Vase ended in defeat at the hands of SW Peninsula League D1E colleagues at Tigers Way on Saturday.

Creddy converted a couple of early chances to lead 2-0 with strikes from Steve Morrish and Simon Durrant - a superb 25-yarder.

Left wing-back Charley Skilton pulled one back just after the half hour but the two-goal cushion was restored by Durrant before half time.

Richard Blake sealed the win for the visitors in the 70th minute and Skilton's second 10 minutes from time counted for little.

The Tigers were in league action last Tuesday at home against Exeter University (Sept 5th).

Ax looked on course for an impress three points as they led 2-0 at half time. Sam Dibling linked well with player-boss Jon Hurford to fire the hosts in front against the run of play.

Dibling then stuck a post before Gary Spiller added number two on the half hour. After the interval Nathan Warren nodded a cross from sub Tony Pinder against the woodwork and this was to prove crucial as the Students moved up a level with three goals in 15 minutes.

A Luke Barner free kick halved the Ax lead, the striker soon levelled from the penalty spot and the winner came 20 minutes from time.

Axminster are due to travel to Alphington on Saturday for a League Cup first round tie ahead of the visit by Honiton Town in the big East Devon derby in the SWP Peninsula League (D1E) under the Tiger Way floodlights next Tuesday (7.30pm ko).

SW Peninsula League Division One (E) Honiton Town 2 Appledore 0

A COMFORTABLE home win over lowly Appledore has lifted Honiton Town up to 12th in the table.

The first half ended goal less with both keepers making fine saves. The stalemate ended eight minutes after the turnaround when Lewis Couch's cross was headed home by Tom Perryman.

The visitors tried to respond but found Hippos' skipper Ben Ashford and his defence in good form and the win was sealed by another header with Chris Long this time getting on the end of a pass from Ash Mitchell.

The Hippos travel to Torridge for a League Cup round one tie on Saturday.

MATCH REPORTS Beer Albion 5 Topsham Town 4 D&E Premier

BEER Albion notched their second league win of the season edging out Topsham Town in a nine-goal thriller at the Furzebrake on Saturday writes Richard Honnor.

George Harwood opened the scoring for the Fishermen in the 13th minute, forcing the ball home after a goalmouth scramble but Topsham levelled six minutes later when Sam Clarke headed home at the far post.

Topsham took the lead on 23 minutes when Clarke scored his second after a couple of defensive blunders left him with an easy target.

The visitors were growing in confidence and went 3-1 ahead on 38 minutes when Cameron Pow hit a great 30-yard lob catching Jones off of his goal-line after Beer's defence had been caught square.

With player-boss Richard Walker on the substitutes bench because of a niggling ankle injury, Beer offered little threat up front, but were handed a lifeline just before the break when Simon Smith converted a penalty after Sam Phillips was brought down in the penalty box.

The Fishermen went 4-2 behind on 51 minutes when Ward forced the ball over the line after Jones' fine save ricocheted off a defender into the Topsham forward's path.

The visitors were temporarily down to 10 men when their midfielder was sin-binned on 58 minutes for dissent.

The Fishermen took advantage and reduced the arrears four minutes later when sub Walker netted from 15 yards after a sweet interchange of passes involving Smith, Clode and Long.

At last, Beer took control as Topsham tired and the introduction of Pedro Fontes boosted the Fishermen's midfield.

The equaliser eventually came on 85 minutes. Fontes and Walker combined to present Chris Long with an opportunity and his shot was parried by the keeper but went in off the post.

Just as the home side seem grateful just to salvage a draw, up popped Walker to tap home the winner on 94 minutes after the keeper could only parry Long's strike.

Man-of-the-Match was awarded on behalf of sponsors Cafe Napoli, Beer to Topsham striker Cameron Pow, whilst for Beer hard-working midfielder Simon Smith impressed.

Next Saturday 16th September Beer travel to Newton St Cyres - Kick off time is 3pm.

Beer Reserves have a home game against Priory in the Devon Senior Cup. Kick-off is 2 pm and the match sponsor is Marine House at Beer.

Round up

OKEHAMPTON ARGYLE moved into joint top spot in Premier after a 3-1 victory at EXMOUTH TOWN RES who suffered their first defeat.

HEAVITREE UNITED enjoyed their best display to date as they saw off SEATON TOWN 5-0. Callum Hoare struck twice with singles from Dylan King, Charlie Khan and Chris Hickson.

NEWTOWN had to settle for a point in a 5-5 draw at UPTOTERY, and paid the price for missing two open goals in the last few minutes. Corey O'Donoghue with a hat-trick, Ben Howard and Ben Cole had the Newtown goals.

NEWTOWN ST CYRES enjoyed their first win as they slammed FENITON 6-1.

It's now four wins in a row for Division One leaders LYME REGIS without conceding, but their 1-0 victory at SIDMOUTH TOWN RES was close, Dec Ellis netted the winner when the Vikings had two men in the sin bin.

Kieran Stone nailed the only goal for BOW AAC in their 1-0 victory at AXMOUTH UNITED in Division Two, which takes them top.

CREDITON UNITED ransacked BUDLEIGH SALTERTON 14-0 in their Division Three clash.

LYME REGIS RESERVES are the early pacesetters in Division Five after opening quarter goals from Brad Rowe and Julien Simier earned a 2-0 win over Hemyock.

Meanwhile, it does not happen too often, but BRAVEHEARTS racked up a 20-0 victory at home to AXMINSTER TOWN Dom Perrott (7), and Mitch Pemberton (5) led the goal rush.

HONITON with Julie Grant

HONITON bowler Sue Evans won the Over 55 pairs with Carole Binmore on the Saturday at the Devon Ladies finals held at Topsham last weekend and then on the Sunday won the fours with Yvonne Rayner, Janet Sherwood.

Sue finished off the successful weekend with a singles win in the Over 55 competition.

CHARD with Peter Avery

CHARD completed its Wessex League programme with three matches in quick succession.

The visit to STREET proved to be the most difficult without any winning rinks.

It was a little better at GILLINGHAM where Teresa Pinder, Peter Avery & Alan White won 19-10.

The most disappointing result was at Mere. Having won the home game just 12 days earlier the team travelled with high hopes but could only share the rinks (Maureen Fenwick, Roy Vaux & Peter Fisher 20-18; Fred Ward, Lynn Beale & Maurice Wakeling 18-12) and lost overall; Phil Stringer, Bill Hucker & Barbara Ball also played well only losing 14-15.

Attention then shifted to the remaining friendly fixtures including two against touring teams before the traditional Closing of the Green on September 23rd.

A good start was made in the home triples against DUNKESWELL (Phil Stringer, Brian Smith & Barbara Ball 17-11; Pauline Small, Iain Weeks & Clive Small 19-15; Denise Fisher, Peter Fisher & Keith Johnson 19-10).

The NOMADS were next to visit Bond's Close when Chard won three and drew one of the four rinks; our winning triples were Pauline Small, Keith Johnson & Clive Small 27-10; Doug Hislop, Peter Fisher & Barbara Ball 22-17; Denise Fisher, Peter Avery & Ron Genge 17-9, while Doris Finch, Dennis Finch & Stan Fowler drew 16-16.

At TAUNTON VIVARY Chard shared the rinks (Teresa Pinder, Alan White, Glenn Berry & Barry Pinder 19-15; Tudor Jones, Lynn Beale, Bill Hucker & Maurice Wakeling 20-14) but lost overall 70-77.

Next up at WELLINGTON Chard were only able to win on one rink with Teresa Pinder, Lynn Beale & Peter Avery (22-10) and lost 53-83.

Last weekend the club hosted the SUFFOLK PRESIDENT'S touring team for a match of six triples, there were a number of close games (Scott Sharp, Roy Bashford & Roy Vaux 13-15; Jackie Weeks, Teresa Pinder & Mike Nichols 12-15) but the visitors won quite comfortably.

In the last week of August there was yet more success for the short mat team.

CORFE were beaten on their own mats by 40-30 (Dot Ducker, Rosie Barnard & Stan Ducker 9-7; Jenny Corneliuss, Phil Stringer & Bill Hucker 9-8; Ena Stringer, Roy Vaux & Vic Barnard 13-3) and visitors CREECH ST MICHAEL were dispatched 48-25 with big wins for Rosie Barnard, Phil Stringer & Norman Sumpter (16-13) and Hilary Angold, Margaret Flynn & David Angold (20-3) they were backed up by a 9-6 win for Ena Stringer, Roy Vaux & Ron Griffin.

This string of victories bodes well for the two teams in the East Devon League which gets underway in late September.

■ FINALISTS: Roger Smith & Judy Smith (left) who beat Sue Kury and Tony Kury 22-18 in the Husband and Wife Final at Feniton.

rugby chard

Long wait finally ends

Burnham-on-Sea 13 Chard 31

Western Counties West

CHARD made it two wins in a row with a very competent display against the only other Somerset team in the division writes Glyn Hughes.

The win was also significant in that it was the first victory of any kind that Chard 1st xv have had away from their Park Road base for 21 months!

For those with long memories this was against Coney Hill in Gloucester on December 19th 2015. Despite a stormy outlook the game started in near perfect conditions, but Chard were guilty of a number of infringements and Burnham took a three point lead with their first kickable penalty.

But Chard gradually got on top with some fine forward play and Joe Mainwaring went over for the first try that was converted by Charlie Roberts.

Both sides made basic errors close to the home 22 area but Chard took full advantage of the opportunity presented to them and Mainwaring crossed for his second try. The conversion was missed but Chard led 12-3.

Burnham raised their game and pulled things back to 8-12 with a well deserved try.

But the Burnham forwards had no answer to the power of the Chard pack and not surprisingly the referee awarded Chard a penalty try (an automatic 7pts from this season) following a series of infringements.

The Chard backs were playing their part in a good team display and, after good work from Ben Stead, Luke Hill crossed for his first try in 1st xv league rugby which ensured a four try bonus point for Chard who led 24-8 at half time.

Burnham certainly upped their game in the second half and scored an unconverted try almost from the restart.

However, the Chard defensive play was very good and much of the second half was evenly contested.

In the latter stages Burnham had a player sent to the bin and Chard took advantage as Max Gosden crossed over the line for their fifth try which was converted by Roberts.

Chard have a home fixture against Kingsbridge on Saturday (3pm ko).

Chard 2nd 7 Castle Cary 24

Somerset Division Two (S)

A VERY young and enthusiastic Chard side played well but the greater experience of the visiting team in the end proved the difference between the sides.

Next Saturday Chard 2nds are away at Burnham and Chard 3rds begin their season with a home game against Cheddar.

Saints event attracts 60 teams

HONITON with John Pawley

THE morning rain, wind and mist of last Tuesday gave way to drier conditions for the Tuesday mixed in the afternoon.

The format this week was an American Foursomes which was won by Cherry Liell & Ken Wood with 37 Stableford points. They were followed by Maureen Tollemache & Larry Goodliffe with 35, and in third place were Sue Kelson & John Frith with 33.

The Ladies Stableford competitions last week were for the Granny's Cup, and for those who do not have grandchildren, the Bournemouth Cup.

Whilst conditions were very wet for the early starters, the rain held off and the greens were surprisingly speedy.

The winning Granny was Janet Hughes with 36 points, and the winning non-granny (Bournemouth Cup) was Tricia Swindell with 33.

Silver Division was won by Olwen Eaton with 34 with Tricia Swindell ahead on count-back from Liz Wood - both with 33.

Bronze One winner was Janet Hughes with Linda Blundell ahead on count-back from Lesley Farley - both with 32 points.

Bronze Two winner was Carol Cole with 31 with Chris Major next, on count-back, from Cherry Liell (29). The nine-hole winner was Maureen Tollemache.

The Seniors' run of good match results ended early last week with a defeat 5-1 at Torquay.

By Friday conditions were extremely testing for the Monthly Medal.

Withdrawals meant that less than 40 completed cards were handed in.

Scores above 70 were the order and Steve Blundell, Jim Wallis and David Scott - acquiring eight balls each for carding the only 2s.

The winner of Division Two was Mike Delaney with 71 followed by John Pawley (73) then Tom Tunncliffe and Peter Blake, both with 74.

The Division One, and September Medal, winner was Phil Deacon with 71, followed by Steve Butcher (74) Mike Ward (75) and John Fleetwood (76).

CRICKET ST THOMAS

with Bert Robinson

A TOTAL of 54 Seniors recently held their September qualifying medal.

Conditions proved to be difficult with only one player able to post a sub par score. A tight finish in Division One saw favourite Danny Dowell finish in top spot with a level par round of 70 beating 'Toss' Smith into second place by one shot with George Wallace one shot behind in third.

In Division Two Ian Fielder played some great golf and recorded a round of 69, enough to beat Mike King into second place by two shots.

Results: Division One 1st Danny Dowell (70), 2nd Toss Smith (71) 3. George Wallace (72)

Division Two: 1st Ian Fielder (69), 2nd Mike King (71) 3rd Brian Marsh (73).

Last Wednesday the Seniors held their prestige event, the three-man Texas Scramble Open which attracted 60 teams. Such a large field was unusual for the Seniors, but it reflects on the work put in by the owners of the club who have placed the golf club on the map, and now attracts golfers from throughout the region.

Results: Home Teams; 1st Martin Putland; Ian Griffith & Roger Davis 58.33, 2nd Maurice Arnold; Chris Basterfield & Richard Forster 59.83, 3rd Mike Banfield; Tony Church & Ray Gudge 59.83.

Visiting Teams: 1st J.Evans; R.Parminter & P.Birch (Long Sutton) 57.83, 2nd D. Dowell; R Stevens & A Johnson (Mixed) 58.33, 3rd H Chapman; J Hobson & R Ward (Dainton Park) 59.33, 4th M Water house; J Brewster & D Llewellyn (The Dorset) 59.33, 5th K Gidley; J Gardiner & M Ball (Taunton & Pickeridge) 59.83.

It is anticipated that an amount in excess of £500 was raised for charity.

AXE CLIFF with Peter Motsom

LAST Wednesday the Ladies section played their monthly Medal and also, their Vets Bowl which was Stroke Play competition for Ladies of 60 and over.

The Vets Bowl and Medal was won by Stella Thompson with a nett score of 75.

In second place for the Vets Bowl and Medal was Helen Kenworthy with a nett 76 with Jill Wellington third with 77 for Medal only.

Margaret Kenchington clinched third in the Medal with a nett 79.

Despite incessant rain last Friday, the Seniors' held their Captain's Day competition and also the Cooper Shield.

The Captains Day trophy was won by Neil Moorcraft with 30 points. In second place on countback was Ron Bragg also with 30 and close behind in third place was Bill Polley with 29.

The Cooper Shield was won on count-back by Dave Evans with 26 points from Dave Sammons also with 26. B Cook took the third with 23.

The heavy rain got the better of many players and some did not complete the 18 holes. However two golfers carded twos; Adrian Bishop scored on the 11th and Mick Swann on the slightly more tricky 7th.

The longest drive was won by Malcolm Reynolds.
